SOCK IT TO ME!

Waiting for a game of riding to match socks on T-poles, William decided to use his socks as hand-warmers. Quick thinking is a handy life skill!

Five New Classes Added Despite Covid Issues

Every rider on the waiting list is getting saddle time this Spring after donor support made it possible to add FIVE new classes. Covid protocols mean no riders come into the barn now. Instead, they head straight to their horses and helmets in the arena—stopping for a temperature check and hand wash. Everyone wears a mask but riders can unmask after mounting,

When her first session ended, she didn't want to leave and kept saying "No!" then pointing to her horse saying "Neigh." All week she's been pointing to horses and saying "Neigh." Horses are a hit! Felicity's Mom

Can you tell Maggie has missed riding Derby?

It's only Felicity's's first week, but she is already confident on Shorty.

Sparky Aims to Join Baxter

Becoming part of the Turning Point Herd takes weeks of practice and training.

Owen and Kenzie teach Sparky bubbles are actually fun not scary!

Baxter tells Sparky proper behavior for banking at RCB: "Good grief, Brush your mane down!"

Trailblazer Monthly Giving Lights Path to Future

YOU could be the one lighting the way to a bright future for the people Turning Point serves!

Stephanie Hindman has been a Trailblazer since 2017, giving monthly on top of volunteering since 2014.

Judy Hoberock decided to sponsor a day of horse care each month as a tribute to long time Board member Natalea Watkins.

When a Trailblazer steps up to support key functions at Turning Point, more riders, more readers, more seniors in memory care and more victims of trauma can access the magic of horses to build brighter futures.

Become a Trailblazer TODAY at turningpointriding.org !

Rachel Martin

Ally Blosser

Jessica is an Instructor in Training who plans to complete Certification as a PATH Instructor in March. Rachel brings teaching experience from Texas to Monday and Wednesday evening classes. Ally is an OSU student earning academic credit through an internship this semester.

“My degree in non-profit management requires an internship and I feel so lucky to intern at Turning Point. I do a little bit of everything to acquire an overview of how a non-profit works.” Ally Blosser

Meet Joe Pony

He is on loan to Turning Point after time in another therapeutic riding center. Board member John Dorman is his current owner.

2020 Annual Report

COVID PIVOT

When Stillwater Schools went to virtual classes, Turning Point sessions were canceled. So Baxter took to the road to see riders and went on FB to do virtual lessons of his own.

GRANT SUCCESS

Grants from AmeriCorps, the Masonic Foundation, the Brown Foundation and the PPP Cares Act protected certified staff jobs and funded Phase One of the Covered Arena Project: Drainage and a raised arena base—already in use.

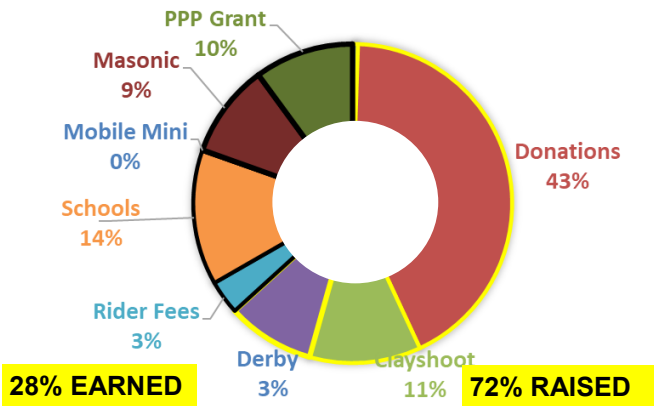

DONOR HEROES

From books about horses to toilet paper to funds to re-pair sagging gutters, DONORS really stepped up when Covid cancelled classes. Donations were 400% above projections.
